PLAY BALL

At 6 o'clock at the playgrounds Portsmouth's own Sunset League baseball will make its bow for the season of 1921, and there is every indication of a most successful season. There is no institution that gives so much in the amusement line for so little outlay as this. It is purely the people's and every one is urged to take part in it. Give the men a rousing send off. Get out and cheer, limber up and be a live one. It is healthful pleasure. Take the youngsters.

ANOTHER FIGHT IN STILLMAN CASE

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 6.—Another fight over immediate continuation of hearings in the Stillman divorce case was forecast today. John Brennan, counsel for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, the defendant, announced that he would probably summon referee Gleason at the hearing in Poughkeepsie tomorrow to grant a further delay. Cornelius Sullivan of counsel for James A. Stillman, when informed of Mr. Brennan's statement said the bankers attorneys would fight any attempt to halt the progress of the case.

THIRTY-EIGHT ON TRIAL FOR $1,000,000 ROBBERY

Woman Charged With Being the Leader

(By Associated Press)

Toledo, Ohio, June 6.—Thirty-eight defendants accused of complicity in Toledo's $1,000,000 post office robbery went on trial today in a carefully guarded court room. Mrs. Wanda Urbaytis named as the master mind in the theft appeared in new clothes which her sisters took to the jail last week. The robbery took place Feb. 17. Five men compelling truck drivers to remain impassive while they loaded the valuable sacks in an automobile and sped away. Two of the five actual robbers are at liberty.

N. H. MAN APPOINTED ASST. DIRECTOR

Washington, D. C., June 6.—President Harding today appointed Joseph A. Hill of New Hampshire assistant director of the census.

PRAY TO IMAGE TO END DROUGHT

Mexico City, June 6.—The image of the Virgin de Los Remedios was removed Saturday night from the small village of Los Remedios, near this city to the cathedral here, where it will be exposed for several days while devotions are held to end the drought which has reached serious proportions. Thousands of persons followed the image to the cathedral where a solemn ceremony was held, presided over by the Archbishop of Mexico. This is the first time the image has been removed in many years.

Mexico City is threatened with the closing down of the lighting system as a result of the drought. The impounding dams at Necaxa are reported to contain water sufficient for only a few more weeks. The city has been on a water ration for some time. There is much illness as a result of the drought

CORONER'S INQUEST FOR BROMWELL

(By Associated Press)

Mineola, N. Y., June 6.—A coroner's inquest will be held Thursday into the death of Miss Laura Bromwell, aviatrix, who was killed yesterday in looping the loop. Witnesses will be summoned as well as a man who examined the machine before the fatal flight.

VISIT SCENE OF MURDER AT DEDHAM

(By Associated Press)

Dedham, Mass., June 6.—The scene of the killing at South Braintree a year ago of Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster of a shoe factory and Alessandro Berardelli, his guard, was visited today by the judge and the jury before whom Niccola Sacco and Bartolomo Vanzetti are to be tried for the double murder and payroll robbery. The prisoner waived right to be prisoned. Attention was directed to a chart of the scene on Pearl street where the murder occurred on the afternoon of April 15, 1920. A brief court session preceded the departure of the jurors. Judge Thayer announced the selection of Walter Ripley of Quincy as foreman and overruled a motion by the defense for separate trials of Sacco and Vanzetti. The way was opened for the defense to examine the weapons and bullets which the prosecution will allege were used in the shooting of the paymaster and his guard, when the court gave the exhibit into the custody of Sheriff Samuel Capen.

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE CONFERS DEGREES

(By Associated Press)

Orono, Me., June 6.—The University of Maine conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on six men at its 60th annual commencement exercises here today. Among those honored were President Arthur J. Roberts of Colby College; Brigadier General Mark L. Hersey, former professor of military science; and Justice Albert M. Spear, of the Maine Supreme Court. The University also conferred degrees in course of 205 undergraduates.

AMERICAN GOLFER DEFEATS RAY

Gleneagles, Scotland, June 6.—In the individual matches of the British-American professional golf team competition here this afternoon Emmet French, American, defeated Edward Ray, Great Britain, two up and one to play. Duncan, Great Britain, defeated Hutchinson, America, two up and one to play. Mitchell, Great Britain, and Hagen, America, halved their match.

TERRIBLE SCENES ENACTED IN PUEBLO

Most Disastrous Flood in History of West

(By Associated Press)

Pueblo, Col. June 6.—Flood stricken Central Colorado today surveyed the havoc of the most disastrous flood in the history of the west. An accurate estimate of the loss of life and property damage is impossible. Morgues are crowded to overflowing. Hospitals are turning patients to improvised relief stations and thousands are homeless. Restoration of the city to even an approach to normal conditions is a matter of weeks. Levees must be repaired before the business section can be cleared of water. The local Red Cross place the number of bodies found at approximately 100. The number of persons in temporary hospitals was placed at 600 by the Secretary of the Governor. A complete field hospital unit from Fort Logan was expected to reach here today. Las Animas, Colorado, early today reported railroad shops at La Junta under five feet of water, the railroad station wrecked and 200 freight cars swept away and scores of lives believed to have been lost. The Platte River broke its banks at Denver shortly after midnight inundating several blocks of the residential section. People left their homes taking refuge in City Hall. Last reports from Denver was that the river was within one foot of the structure in the business section and still rising.

Colorado Springs, June 6.—Fred Dupray, sheriff of Mafa County, was one of the survivors of 200 passengers on Denver and Rio Grand train Number 3, which arrived in Pueblo on Friday night at 8.00 p. m. Just as the train pulled up to the bridge over the Arkansas River leading into the Union Station it was sunk. "We were left there," he said. "On the next track was a Missouri Pacific train. We had been there only a short time when the flood lapped at the coach steps and began rising rapidly. It soon rushed through the car and carried off out through the windows and doors. In the water we clung to the coaches. Screams and cries of anguish arose. I saw some people go to their death crushed between the two trains. A great pile of lumber came rushing down upon us, sweeping over us, striking some of those clutching their precarious hold on the cars. They were torn loose and went floating down to death. Morning came, the waters had receded. Those of us who were left, about 60, were able to reach the ground and walk around in water above our knees. Some of the unconscious women and children were left in the dark. It was a scene of devastation and death. It was awful."

ONE MILLION FIRE IN PITTSBURG

(By Associated Press)

Pittsburg, June 6.—Fire starting in an office building of the downtown section early today was under control at 3 a. m. after the entire fire department was called to the scene. The damage was estimated at $1,000,000. Among the companies who said their losses would total into $1,000,000 was the Fairbanks' Scales Co.

GARDEN PARTY FOR WENTWORTH HOME

A committee meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the Wentworth Home on Pleasant street, to arrange for a garden party on June 29, on the grounds of this old mansion house.

Plans are being made to have this a red-letter event, and it will be held from 3:30 to 9 p. m. An orchestra will furnish music, and home-made cake and candy will be on sale. It is hoped to have the grounds lighted by electricity, and that the patronage will be large. This home for chronic invalids is a most worthy institution, and our citizens should help in the good cause.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS DOWN TWO IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, June 6.—Samuel Strain of 15 Hospital Ave., and Stanley Kucharczyh of the Lake Shore Road were run down by the automobile of Samuel Pawluch of 83 Conant St., Sunday evening at the junction of Candia and Auburn roads, in the Mausabesic District. Strain sustained a broken arm and internal injuries apparently, and Kucharczyh a broken nose and various bruises.

Strain was riding a motorcycle and Kucharczyh was a bystander. Pawluch said that in trying to avoid a bicyclist who came out from the Auburn road he did not notice the others.

SOME PLACE HE HIT THE CALF

John Maguire was driving his roadster toward home when he saw directly in front of him a red calf. He was too close to the animal to stop, and he tried to dodge it, but had poor luck, and struck the animal between the bumper and the radiator.

The statutes for the Province of Quebec for the year 1921, which have just been compiled, are the bulkiest yet printed. The volume contains more than 1100 pages, and contains all laws and amendments adopted at the last session of the Legislature.

'DESPICABLE,' SAYS JUDGE, OF ARREST

New York, June 6.—The arrest of Barnett Greenwood of 70 Post ave., an actor, on a charge of violating the state dry laws, was characterized by Magistrate Francis X. McQuade in the West Side court, as "the most despicable arrest I've ever heard of." Greenwood was arrested because he granted the request of a detective he had met in a Broadway restaurant for a drink from a flask he carried in his pocket.

Joseph William of the special service division of the police department, saw Greenwood in a restaurant in Broadway, between Forty-Second and Forty-Third street, yesterday morning. The detective said he engaged Greenwood in conversation, and later asked him if he had anything "on his hip."

"Sure," Greenwood replied, according to the detective.

When Greenwood had finished his meal the detective walked down Broadway with him. "How about that stuff on the hip?" asked the detective.

"Oh, excuse me, I forgot all about it," the actor said: "step into a hallway with me."

According to the detective, they stepped into a hallway, Greenwood pulled out a flask and handed it to the detective, who then displayed his shield and arrested the actor.

Greenwood was speedily released on bond furnished by his wife, the magistrate telling him he would take anything he had got as security.

ANOTHER DEATH AT TULSA

(By Associated Press)

Tulsa, Okla, June 6.—R. L. Osborne died today as a result of wounds received when he was shot by a guard last night according to military authorities. Osborne who was a member of an automobile party failed to halt when commanded to stop by guards.

"STRIKING OF AMERICA'S HOUR"

Dover, June 6.—The pageant, "The Striking of America's Hour," was given with marked success by the young people of the First Parish Congregational Church in connection with children's day at the church, and in place of the customary morning service. The auditorium was filled. There were nearly 50 persons in the cast and chorus.

FIRE THREATENED CAR BARN OF ELECTRIC ROAD

A fire which started in a small shed in the rear of the car barn of the Portsmouth Electric railway off Bartlett street on Sunday afternoon, for a time threatened the entire structure. A still alarm was sent in and the chemical crew with Chief Wm. F. Woods, handled the blaze, but it was necessary to lay a hydrant stream. The small building was destroyed and a section of the car barn damaged, but the fire was prevented from getting a foothold on the main building.

A fire in a shed in the rear of the A. & P. store on Islington street called the chemical crew on a still alarm Saturday. The fire was extinguished without small damage.

TWO DROWN IN NASHUA BROOK

Nashua, June 6.—Miss Bertha Charnard, 28, who resided at the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Dora Lefebre, 11, of Deer Park, were drowned this evening in a brook which flows from Edgeville Pond to the Nashua river. Their bodies were recovered.

It is not known how the fatality happened as the girls were alone at the time. They left Dora's home at about 4:30 and when they had not returned after dark, George Lefebre, father of Dora, went in search of them. He found their shoes on the bank of the brook and, becoming alarmed, notified the police.

Sergt. Charles F. Demarais and Patrolman Peter Caron went to the spot and many of the neighbors also gathered. The bodies were soon recovered by George Lefebre, Dora's brother.

The brook is about 20 feet wide. It is supposed that one of the girls stepped into a deep hole and that the other sought to pull her out. They were fully dressed, except for their shoes and stockings.

Miss Charnard, although the elder, was smaller than the other girl. She was employed as a maid by George Dugis of 129 West Pearl street.

PEPPERRELL COVE

Pepperrell Cove, June 6.—Our Grand Army friends will be glad to know that the women in the South are making an effort to remove a statute of Booth, the slayer of Lincoln, at Troy, Ala. This was erected just after the war by semi-public subscription when Booth was looked upon as a hero. Time changes things even in the Southland.

The week of the legislative reunion here seems to be commencement week at Dartmouth, N. H. College and at Bates. We have been asked to come to Bates and speak at the commencement dinner, June 22, but we have dinner enough on our hands the 23rd, so will decline that dinner and wait until 1925 when our class, or what is left of us, will meet around the festive board and enjoy a time that money can not buy.

As our legislature reunion will be in this city, some data of the legislature will be of interest to most of us.

The legislature of N. H. has met 292 times including the colonial sessions 144 years. First session of the senate was 1784. Woodbury Langdon and John Langdon were members; had 12 members until 1879, then it was doubled in size. There has been 85 senators from this city, 6 presidents of the Senate. The first president of the Senate was Woodbury Langdon, and the last William H. Y. Hackett 1862-3.

Looking over the names of the Presidents of the Senate we find many names of men who left foot prints on the sand of time: John Langdon, Levi Woodbury, Jacob H. Gallinger, Frank D. Currier, John McLane, Frank W. Rollins, Harry T. Lord, and of the speaker of the house, Richard Waldron Jr., of this city was the first speaker. Among the other speakers were John Langdon, William Plummer, Levi Woodbury, Franklin Pierce, Edward H. Rollins, William E. Chandler, Albert R. Hatch, last speaker from this city 1874-75, Stephen S. Jewett, Frank D. Currier, Harry M. Cheney, Frank A. Musgrove, Rufus E. Elwell, Cyrus H. Little.

Some one said to us Rockingham County is the oldest in the state. Not all the counties are the same age. When N. H. was a part of the colony of Massachusetts Bay from 1641 to 1679 the principal towns in N. H. were a part of Norfolk County, Mass. Six years before the Revolution six counties were established in N. H., all of them were named for some English nobleman, or some English county. If they would have waited a few years this would not have been so. Names of the counties established, Rockingham, Strafford, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Grafton. The Revolutionary councillors from Portsmouth were George Atkinson, Woodbury Langdon, William Whipple 1776-81.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke at Princeton recently criticised Thomas A. Edison's famous questionnaire, declaring its principal faults are that it does NOT test a man's power "to think clearly; to reason rightly; to concentrate the mind. These are the three chief objects of education, said Dr. Van Dyke, and added:

"Mr. Edison's questions are almost as entertaining as a charade. To be able to draw up such a questionnaire, with the undoubted ability to answer it himself, shows that Mr. Edison must have a nimble mind, but to imagine that such a list of questions can really serve as a test of mental capacity is to mistake the mind for a storehouse of disconnected and unrelated facts.

"Instead, the mind is an instrument tempered by training to do the work which is required of it. All these facts, which some memories retain and others do not, are fully accessible in a good encyclopedia. An educated mind knows how to find them quickly and use them intelligently. Men whose minds retain such facts are not always the most intelligent or the most able.

"Mr. Edison's questionnaire has only one merit—it shows that the man who can answer it has done a good deal of general and miscellaneous reading."

CLAREMONT HAS FIRE IN GARAGE, 40 AUTOS BURNED

Claremont, June 6.—Shortly before midnight last night fire was discovered in the Claremont Garage owned by Chauncey Bailey, on Pleasant st. There were 40 automobiles in the garage, and all of them were more or less badly damaged.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Bailey's watchman, and both Bailey and the watchman tried to extinguish the flames by the aid of hand extinguishers, but were unable to, and so the department was summoned.

The fire was threatening, and shortly after the firemen arrived the flames communicated with the Thatcher house on Pleasant st., and the Stone house on Middle st., but the department saved both these buildings, and in half an hour the blaze was under control.

The garage had a cement block front, and the rear of the building was of wood, covered with steel. The automobiles which were in the rear of the garage suffered the most.

A conservative estimate of the loss at an early hour this morning places the loss of 25,000.

ORPHANS' HOME FIFTY YEARS OLD

Franklin, June 6.—The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the New Hampshire Orphans' Home, to be celebrated Wednesday, will be one of the important evenings in the history of the institutions. Special preparations are being made to celebrate the semi-centennial in a fitting manner. Many notable guests have been invited, and assurances have been received of a noteworthy gathering. Supt. W. J. Malvern and his assistants are preparing an interesting program of exercises.

The business meeting of the home will be held in the forenoon. The public exercises will occur at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. During the day a picture of the late Dr. O. B. Douglass is to be presented to the John Kimball chapel. Dr. Douglass was president of the home for 15 years.

DOVER

Dover, June 6.—The Pacific Mills baseball team was defeated by the Dover Y. M. C. A. at the Pacific Mills baseball grounds on Saturday, the score being 8 to 5. The mill boys were at the mercy of Bud Fisher, who pitched for the Y. M. C. team.

The Dover members of the Knights of Birmingham returned from Rochester after making a creditable showing in the parade in that city. Nearly 150 went from Dover. Fred N. Beckwith, the Dover city band, accompanied the delegation from this city.

The many Dover employees of the Portsmouth Navy Yard are pleased that the Navy Yard will not adopt the daylight-saving plan.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized at the first Parish Church, when Miss Pearl Mae Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dougal Grant, of Potsdam, N. Y., became the wife of Benjamin Hill of Dover. Mr. Hill is a graduate of New Hampshire State College, and was a lieutenant in the World War. The marriage was performed by Rev. Coe of the First Church. Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of Dr. Hunter on Belknap st.

The First Parish Church held children's Day Sunday, and the children were attired in Chinese costumes. Many China life-saving stamps were sold, which will help to increase the China famine fund.

CARL DAVIS, WAR HERO, BURIED AT PLAISTOW

Plaistow, June 5.—The funeral of Carl Davis, the first service man of this town killed in action overseas, was held this afternoon at the First Baptist Church. Private Davis served in Co. D, 327th Infantry, and was killed in the Meuse-Argonne sector.

Services were conducted by Rev. Ernest A. McKenzie, pastor of the Baptist Church, with Lorraine Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Capt. Thomas L. Wood, commander, of Haverhill, Mass., performing escort duty. The Lorraine Post Women's Auxiliary also attended the funeral.

Burial was in the Plaistow Cemetery, with committal services conducted by Claude Buckland, chaplain of Lorraine Post.

NASHUA FIREMEN HONOR DEAD

Nashua, June 6.—The Nashua firemen Sunday held their annual memorial Sunday, decorating the graves of 135 deceased members in various cemeteries. The oration was given by Rev. A. J. Archibald. The parade was headed by the Nashua Military Band. Mayor Henri A. Burque, and the Fire Commissioners were guests.

U. S. IS IN COMMANDING POSITION

Valley Forge, Pa., June 5—A sermon of faith in the established American institutions and a hope for the peace and good will of the world was preached by President Harding here today from a woodland pulpit near the George Washington camp. He had previously attended services in the little church here, having motored over with Mrs. Harding from the home of Sen. Knox. President Harding said: "When I pledge our America to a world of hopefulness, I at the same time exact the pledge that America will cling to her own independence and action." He said that he could say without boasting that "ours is a commanding position. The world never could have settled its troubles without the hopefulness of this country."

FRANCE RETAINS WOMAN'S WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

(By Associated Press)

St. Cloud, France, June 5—Mlle Suzanne Lenglen today won the women's hard court world tennis championship by defeating Mrs. Mallor Bjurstedt Mallory in straight sets 6-2 6-3. Mrs. Mallor's defeat leaves the Americans with but one championship out of the five, Mr. Tolden having won the men's singles.

ZIONISTS MEET IN CLEVELAND FOR CONVENTION

Cleveland, Ohio, June 5—Zionist districts in every Jewish Community in the country were expected to be represented here today at the opening of the annual Zionist convention, when the Zionist Organization of America will demand a vote of confidence in it for its stand in the controversy relative to the placing of safeguards around the funds that are being raised for the Palestine Foundation.

While numerous other subjects will come before the convention the vote of confidence on this subject has temporarily overshadowed all others.

American leaders, headed by Judge Julian W. Mack, of New York, contend that the activities of the Keren Hayesod or Palestine Foundation fund, be limited to a donation fund, to be paid to the executive of the World Zionist Organization, but to be expended by the latter body only in Palestine and only in accordance with the fixed Palestinian budget.

They point out that there was chartered in London on March 23 a Keren Hayesod Association as a separate corporation independent of the World Zionist executive, or of the Zionist congress. The American leaders headed by Judge Mack content that the charter gives to the five directors of the association power to supercede the World Organization or the Congress. They claim further that the London resolutions provided that the Palestine Foundation be a fund for the immigration and colonization of Jews in Palestine but that the articles of incorporation gives its five directors powers which may be exercised in any part of the world and to surrender the upbuilding of Palestine to private individuals and corporations.

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the World Zionist Organization recently declared in New York that the charter of the Keren Hayesod Association is merely provisional, and that it may be altered at the World Zionist Congress to be held abroad next September. He asks that the whole matter be held in abeyance until then, while collections for the fund continue.

The American leaders say they are willing to leave to the Zionist Congress the disposition of the funds, but demand proper safeguards for the expenditure in Palestine only of the fund collected meanwhile and they will ask that this attitude be upheld by a vote of confidence.

TILDEN WINS HARD COURT CHAMPIONSHIP

St. Cloud, France, June 5—William T. Tilden, 2d of Philadelphia, yesterday won the world's hard court tennis singles championship, defeating the Belgian player, M. Washer, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—3, 6—3.

His real superiority over the Belgian is not indicated by the point score which would make it appear that the American champion had a harder time in disposing of his youthful left handed opponent than he really did. Tilden's 82 to Washer's 107 does not tell the story of the match, as Tilden was the winner all the way.

FARMERS' WEEK AT DURHAM, AUG. 16

Durham, June 3.—Invitations were sent out today to practically every state-wide organization interested in agriculture and home economics to join in the third annual Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week to be held at New Hampshire College, Aug. 16-19.

Among the organizations invited to hold meetings at this time are the State Department of agriculture, State Grange, State Farm Bureau Federation, State Federation of Women's Clubs, State Board of Health, Red Cross, Granite State Dairymen's Association, New Hampshire Horticultural Society, New Hampshire Poultry Growers' Association, New Hampshire Beekeepers' Association, New Hampshire Potato Growers' Association, New Hampshire Sheep Breeders' Association, New Hampshire Good Roads Association, and members of various breeders' clubs.

As soon as replies are received from the different associations a more definite program will be announced.

When you go forth to purchase your baby carriage, you should bear in mind these three things—

First—Comfort for the child.

Second—(Usually considered first)—Beauty.

Third—Stability.

These three principles combine to make a perfect baby carriage. Such is the LLOYD, which is illustrated above, and which is only one of the many stylish and beautiful bodies designed by them.

PARACHUTE JUMPER DROWNS AT SALISBURY

(By Associated Press)

Salisbury Beach, June 5—"Daredevil" Murphy of Haverhill was drowned this afternoon in jumping from an aeroplane with a parachute. It was in one of the exhibition stunts for which Murphy has been noted. The end came in the sight of thousands of people along the beach. He made his leap all right, but the wind carried his parachute well out to sea before he landed and when boats reached the scene his body had disappeared.

MISS BROWNELL KILLED BY A FALLING PLANE

(By Associated Press)

Mineola, L. I., June 5—Miss Laura Brownell, holder of the loop the loop record and one of the most famous woman aviators, was killed at Mitchell field this afternoon. She was flying at an altitude of one thousand feet and had just completed one loop and was going into another, when something gave way and the plane plunged to the ground. She was dead when the wreckage was reached.

BOOK GIFTS FOR GRADUATION

(By Joseph Mosher)

June is imminent with its roses, its phalanxes of young graduates, and its presents. Already a fond uncle, here and there, is contemplating an auto, a saddle-horse, or a trip to the Yellowstone for some blooming young hopeful. Oh, happy uncle, oh, happy, happy hopeful, as eKats might have said. But that is only here and there; more there than here. In the cases of most proud relatives and friends at the annual intellectual coming - out season, the gift must be determined rather by the oft-sought purse of the giver than by the swelling merits of the diplomatic corps.

The general subject of gifts is of such a genial, cheerful character that one dislikes to settle down at once to an analytic, categoric tone of discourse. And surely we can without worrying and drawing long faces arrive at a practical answer to the question as to what we shall give them, these young graduates of ours.

Well, one of the qualities of a graceful gift on any occasion is fitness. For a departing voyager, a nice basket of fruit or a case of Mothersill's Remedy; for a retiring public official an autographed resolution of congratulation or thanks; for a newly married pair, a house and lot or an annuity. For the academic debutante and her male counterpart the range of appropriate gifts is wide indeed. The token may vary for a box of sweetmeats to a European trip. That fact tends to make one's choice difficult, but there is a balm in Gilead; namely, a certain type of gift has particular fitness for the graduate—books.

I say "particular fitness" because graduation does not mean for the student a leaving behind of the life of books, but, as the term "commencement" indicates, rather a more serious beginning of activities in which books and reading will play a considerable part. Furthermore, an academic course has in general cultivated an ability to appreciate literature. Perhaps not in all students a universal appreciation, but at least an enjoyment of one or more types.

This brings us to another quality of felicitous giving: thoughtfulness for the recipient's personal tastes or desires. Books permit the donor to give evidence that he has taken pains to discover what would be most pleasing. Is your young graduate a lover of serious fiction? What a storehouse of delight he will find in a volume of Hardy or Meredith, Wells or Kipling, Winston Churchill, Mrs. Wharton, or Gertrude Atherton! Perhaps the boy or girl is fond of poetry. Nothing could be a more charming or lasting remembrance of graduation time than a volume of Keats, Shelley, Tennyson, Browning, Byron, Whittier, Lowell, any one of the poets included in such editions as the Cambridge or Oxford. For those who are interested in the drama a present sure to be appreciated would be a collection of plays by a favorite writer: Shaw, Barrie, Moody, Middleton, Maeterlinck, or Galsworthy, let us say. Even in the field of lighter vein, many things of permanent value may be found. As random examples take Stephen Leacock's delectable satires, or W. W. Jcobs' inimitably droll stories of old English "salts," or Mark Twain's immortal humor.

Besides the types already mentioned, biography, travel, art, history, and other fields afford a world of attractive items which if thoughtfully scanned will yield just the particular one which appeals to the ager mind of the graduate. Graduation time is a happy moment to stimulate any inclinations which have been aroused in school or college toward the reading of good books, with its inevitably broadening, cultivating results. Having this end in view it is particularly desirable that the donor discriminate between the ephemeral, the trashy, and those books which make a lasting impression of beauty, truth, inspiration, and culture.

The physical make-up of the volumes presented should also be considered. This by no means implies the necessity of purchasing expensive editions, for plenty of well-bound, decently - margined volumes, cleanly-printed on substantial paper are to be found without getting into the so-called "de luxe" class. There are, to be sure, in all the book-shops wonderful, sumptuous single volumes and sets which wring the withers of the impecunious book - lover and which would correspondingly elate the lucky recipient. But fortunately, as has been indicated, admirable gift-books of every literary category range in price from the modest exaction for a little coat-pocket Ruskin or Emerson to the relatively plutocratic sum involved in the purchase of a big set featuring "hand-made paper and half-levant binding." Whatever you wish to spend for a graduation present, just bear in mind the words of Chaucer who spoke for the student when he said of the Oxford chap

"For him was lever have at his beddes head
Twenty bokes clad in blak or reed
. . . .
Than robes riche, or fithele, or gay sautrye."

DENTISTS TO MEET IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, June 5—The dentists of New Hampshire will come to Manchester in large numbers next week to attend the 44th annual convention of the New Hampshire Dental society, which will open June 9 and continue for three days.

The outlook is far the largest and most interesting convention the dentists of the state have ever held. Paper will be read and lectures and clinics given on dentistry and oral surgery.

Leading dentists of New England will address the convention.

MOVIES ON TAHATI ISLAND

Papeete, Tahati.—The greater number of the films displayed at the only picture house here are of American manufacture, and, as the explanations are in English, it is necessary to interpret the story as the picture proceeds. The one who performs this office is a young man of French descent who was born in the Islands; is a master of the Tahitian language; and is endowed with the gift of eloquence—a veritable William Jennings Bryan of the South Seas.

Standing in the centre of the gallery he plays upon his audience as a master musician upon his instrument; rousing them to laughter, plunging them into despair and tears and inspiring them to roofshaking cheers as the emotions of the pictured actors ebb and flow.

The moving pictures have had a great influence in changing the life of the Islands. They have brought knowledge to the natives of the manners and customs of other lands and have changed the Tahitian's viewpoint from that of an isolated islander to the broader opinion of one who has travelled in many countries. He has seen pictured on the screen all the achievements of the white man; has viewed his famous cities; been instructed in his vanities and therefore no longer considers himself provincial.

It is something of a shock to the average visitor who, believing the poetic tales told in books, expects to find a horde of naked savages, is met instead by the spectacle of brown women in Paris gowns, picture hats and high heeled shoes.

The largest rifle range in the world is at Valcartier Camp, Quebec. It is three and one-eighth miles long.

PUEBLO IS AGAIN FLOODED BY TORRENTS

(By Associated Press)

Pueblo, Colo., June 5—At 2.30 this afternoon just as Pueblo was beginning to recover from the terrible disaster a reservoir between Florence and Victor suddenly gave way and within an hour the swollen torrents of the Arkansas river had again flooded the low ground section of the city. At 4.30 the water had reached a point only a few inches below the high water mark of Friday night's flood.

J. L. Moorehead, secretary to the governor said tonight he thought that the death list would not exceed 150 although reports reaching him were from 200 to 600. The local Red Cross place the number of dead minimum at 100.

The new flood waters of the river swept back into the main street this afternoon making harder the work of the fire which was going on. The water at noon had begun to recede and at that time there had been 83 bodies taken from the flooded area. The heaviest loss of life was in the foreign district where the inhabitants failed to read the warning signals.

Both food and water are scarce, but the most serious problem, according to R. T. Gast of the Red Cross sanitary commission is sanitation. Disinfectants are urgently needed. School houses, public buildings and hundreds of private houses are being used to take care of the homeless who are being fed by the Red Cross at the rate of 600 an hour, but despite the excellent system of the Red Cross, the city will have to have outside assistance.

Pueblo really experienced two new floods, the breaking of a dam at Fountain, near Colorado Springs and flood waters into the Arkansas river, and this raised the flood stage, but at 8 o'clock this morning this flood had receded and it was thought that the danger was over. Then came the reservoir break and a new flood of water.

All fires are out and the flames which which lighted the city last night did no great damage. Every railroad is out of commission and some of them have road beds washed out for miles. The tracks and road bed in the city are completely washed away and it will be some time before the damage to the roads can be repaired.

Pecos, Texas, June 5—The Texas and Pacific railroad tracks near here are under water for a distance of 1200 feet, varying in depth from 3 to 5 feet. All traffic has been suspended. The water is the result of the overflow of the Pecos river.

Denver, June 5—Swollen by cloudbursts and its teeming tributaries, the Arkansas river flooded most of the city of Pueblo last night. When the waters receded fire broke out. It is not possible in the multitude of horror laden tales coming into this city tonight from the district to tell just how many residents of Pueblo died. Early estimates (frantic estimates made before the telephone and telegraph wires were put out of commission) had it that between 1500 and 3000 persons were dead, but later when the tide went back that number was reduced to 100. The property loss will amount to $10,000,000.

Piecing together the most coherent stories it would seem that the water came in its greatest volume from the cliffs west of Union Depot. It took Seventh street as its temporary channel and then swirled out into the lateral streets to cover the entire city.

From towns and villages west and northwest of Pueblo Friday night came warnings. Swallows, a small town fifteen miles to the west, had been struck by a cloudburst, Marshall, Loveland, Louisville and so on reported that their inhabitants had taken to the high ground. There were some losses of life in the smaller towns, but for the most part, the residents fled in time.

Evidently Pueblo did not realize its danger. Either that or it was not sufficiently impressed. But some time before midnight, the cloudburst coming as the climax of the torrential rains, that have fallen upon this section of Colorado, fell upon the narrow, rushing Fountain Creek, and in unprecedented volume Fountain Creek surged into the already roaring Arkansas. The stories have it that the flood fell upon Pueblo rather than rushed over it.

Almost as suddenly as the flood descended, the waters receded. By midnight 132 bodies had been recovered. The fire was permitted to rage. There was no way of fighting it. The fire-fighting apparatus or most of it, had been swept away by the water. Then the streets were choked with the debris that the flood had left behind—all that it had not carried with it. The fire engines could not have negotiated the streets had they been available.

The lighting system went with the rest of the city. There are state marshals and rangers on duty in Pueblo now to protect the town from the inevitable looters. A number of airplanes have been sent out and the latest reports have it that the airmen are going up and down over the ruined city, directing the work of the rescuers. The telephone and telegraph lines went early, isolating Pueblo, and the charging Fountain Creek had rushed into the Arkansas, carrying with it bridges, tracks, steam and electric railway lines. Pueblo was left burning and isolated.

The fragments of the true story have it that six feet of water flooded the principal business district, even after the heavy wave had passed on to the low valley beyond. It was not until 1.30 this afternoon until the waters began to recede.

And it wasn't until then that it was possible to understand what it had all meant. While the flood was swirling through the dark streets, the stories coming to Denver over the Pueblo wires were merely incoherent cries for help. As far as could be learned the last message came from the key of a telegraph operator, who, with a newspaper reporter, stuck to the telegraph office until the water reached their knees and the building began to sag.

The operator, probably taking dictation from the reporter, told that much and then the wire went dead.

LIFE'S WAYFARERS

A dreamer walked the wayside road and saw,
A little one, run careless to and fro,
Evading oft its mothers waiting arms
And heard her chiding tenderly and low.

Musing, he passed a school house by the pines,
A group of children sauntered by the way,
And lingered in the open school house door—
As if reluctant to defer their play,

With thoughtful brow this dreamer onward paced,
And saw a garden; when a maiden fair,
Was gathering roses, and her sweet young face
Was fairer than the roses blooming there,

Then, resting by an ancient well sweep tall—
Where hung a bucket with an iron chain;
This dreamer looked to distance fields beyond
And saw a young man reap the ripened grain.

He paused beside a stream that turned a mill,
Where swift the rushing waters onward glide,
Beside the stream an aged traveller sat,
His pack and staff were lying by his side.

Musing, this dreamer said "On life's highway—
We all are travellers passing on and on,
The helpless babe is led by Mother's hands,
Who guides its footsteps as it walks along,
Youth shuns life's tasks, and seeks for play time hours
Roses have thorns; though plucked by maidens fair,
Young manhood plants, and reaps what he has sown
And oft in reaping, finds the tares are there,
The mile stones show how swift time flies along
The guide board Hope points outstretched hands afar,
Till weary travellers lay life's burdens down,
See lights of home, where many mansions are.

MAN UNABLE TO LOCATE GOLD MINE

Bisbee, Ariz.—For three hundred years, according to reliable records, the Sierra Madre mountains of Sonora and Chihuahua, Mexico, have held the secret of a gold mine of fabulous richness and a vast treasure store of gold, mined and hidden away in an inaccessible tunnel.

The romance of the gold hunter is written in the history of man's efforts through the centuries to reach and bring back to civilization this wealth of the Old Tyopa mines. Murders and violence have marked many of these efforts and still in many hardy breasts of this mining country today there still stirs the spirit which has promoted many to brave the dangers of starvation, thirst and death at the hands of Indian bands and outlaws in the search for gold.

Mexico City contains records of the old mine and several prospectors, one of them Jack Dunn, accredited discoverer of the Warren district, have reported seeing ruins of the old mine, but none ever reached there.

According to records at the Mexican capital, in the latter part of the seventeenth century the isolated village of Old Tyopa was raided by Indians, who destroyed the town and killed all the inhabitants except a priest.

After wandering for several weeks, the priest arrived at a little town called Auga Fria, on the Faqui river, where he was received and cared for by a Mexican family. His hardships caused his death, but before he died he gave to the family a description and map of the mining camp. He also reported that the gold obtained from seven years of mining had been stored in an old tunnel because of the impossibility of shipment to civilization.

The story and map, it is said, have been handed down from family to family for generations. Those who attempted to reach the camp lost their outfits and many did not return. The Indians for years menaced all prospectors and this condition still exists, augmented by bands of outlaws.

Max Covito, for several years Mexican consul at Naco, is said to have been the latest possessor of the priest's map. He declared he twice succeeded in getting as far as Casa Blanca from which the ruins of Old Tyopa are visible and it was reported he had not given up hopes of reaching the place at his death several years ago.

Bert Grover, a local man, twice started with two companions to make the perilous journey, but was forced back because of insufficient equipment. Indians and outlaws.

Some remarkable gold specimens have been brought back from the vicinity of the Old Tyopa, but so far as known no one ever has reached the mines since the old town was destroyed centuries ago.

Railroad Wage Reduction.

The decision of the Railroad Labor Board, which for some time has been considering the wage question, announces a reduction in the pay of the men of 104 railroads, with the understanding that the decision may later be applied to any other road asking a hearing under the provisions of the Esch-Cummins' Transportation Act. The cut in wages averages 12 per cent, and it is estimated that it will mean a saving of some $400,000,000 a year to the railroads.

Of course the reduction is not welcomed by the men affected, for it is always unpleasant to be obliged to take less pay than one has been receiving, but for some time it has been apparent that it must come. For a long time the railroads have been having a hard struggle to make ends meet, and not in all cases have they been able to do this. The great increase in the cost of equipment as well as labor has taxed them heavily. The high rates that it was necessary to establish have tended to decrease traffic, both passenger and freight, and the result was that the railroads were so badly handicapped that a change had to be brought about in one way or another if they were to be kept out of the hands of receivers. Rigid economies were instituted and all help that could possibly be spared was laid off, and yet the needed relief was not experienced. A reduction of wages, which became very high during the war, appeared to be the only remaining remedy, and this has now been brought about. It is only to be hoped that it means the beginning of a better state of things, the benefits of which the railroad men themselves, even with their reduced wages, will be able to share.

The reduction is in line with the trend of the times. For many months there has been a gradual lessening of prices and wages. There have been decided changes within a year and it was inevitable that the drift would get around to the railroads in time. It has come, and apparently in a way that will cause no actual hardship. The cut cannot be called drastic, being only about half of the advance made in 1920. The Board says that in view of the conditions it is justified and required. It calls attention to a depression in industry that has resulted in heavy losses and the throwing of thousands of men out of work, and this unemployment adds to the depression because of its curtailment of purchasing power.

The reduction is to go into effect July 1. It will naturally be regretted by the railroad workers, and at the same time the railroad executives contend that it is less than it should be to enable them to put the roads in proper condition to meet the demands of the public. "The reduction granted will be helpful, but it will not be sufficient," they say. They fear that the saving will not enable them to make the reduction in rates which the public demands.

That remains to be seen. The important fact is that the work of readjustment has at least got around to the railroads. It was bound to come sooner or later, and, now that it has begun, all will hope for an early improvement not only in the railroad business, but in all business, with better times and more general contentment all along the line, even if wages are not quite so high as they were.

The school authorities of Altoona, Pa., have made up their minds that what is sauce for the gander must also be sauce for the goose. Consequently the edict has gone forth that hereafter every teacher who leaves her position before the end of the scool year, unless because of sickness or other disability, shall forfeit $100. How many weddings will be postponed on account of this order remains to be seen.

D. B. Goode, manager of the convention and tourist bureau of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, says Boston would serve her own interests by helping to advertise all New England as a summer resort, and without doubt he is right. The thing for all New Englanders to do is to stand together and "whoop it up" for a section of the country that has unequaled attractions as a summer outing place.

The robbing of summer cottages is reported from time to time, the property of a number of Nashua residents having suffered recently at the hands of thieves and vandals. The courts should not neglect their opportunity to make an example of the culprits in case any of them are rounded up.

Not for themselves, you understand, but for others. Jack Dempsey wants to win the fight for the sake of his mother. And Carpentier wants to win it for the sake of his baby Jacqueline. It will break Jack's mother's heart if he loses. It will blight the future of Baby Jacqueline if Carpentier loses. How cruel life is. Would Stimulate History Study

(From the Lowell Courier-Citizen)

To popularize American history is a laudable undertaking proposed for the Knights of Columbus. Beyond doubt the average man is more ignorant than Mr. Edison would approve of, even of the salient facts of the annals of his own country. American history is studied, by most fairly well educated people, at a comparatively early and immature period in their education—usually in the upper grades of the grammar schools. Thereafter unless the man or woman goes to college and elects special courses in American history any phase of it is not again consecutively studied. Reading an occasional historical romance or a biography of Washington or Lincoln or Roosevelt one may from time to time enlarge somewhat the slimy historical perspective gained in school. It is rare however, for any but specialists to get to know any period of American history intensively. If the Knights of Columbus can lay out courses of historically study that will be carefully and conscientiously followed by its young men much good will be done for the cause of the American nationalism.

"Policy of Isolation"

During the struggle over the League of Nations a favorite assertion of the Wilson supporters was that if the United States did not join the league in some form, the only alternative would be in international isolation. Having laid down the dictum this class of public educators proceeded to assume that it had been proved and accepted and to interpret into the minds of others ideas which existed only in their own. "Policy of isolation" means in their language that the United States would not join Mr. Wilson's league. Rejection of a "Policy of isolation" meant that it would join the league in some form or other. There never was any warrant for such restricted use of the English language outside the political need of democratic leaders to create as much confusion as possible in the public mind. Certainly there never was any warrant for it in any statement of Mr. Harding. From the beginning he has made it clear that he never would take the United States into the League of Nations; that he regarded it as a moribund organization based on unworkable theories and that it had been scrapped, so far as this country is concerned. From the beginning he has made it equally clear that his effort would be to directed towards the promotion of peaceful relations among the nations and the settlement of quarrels by judicial processes, which is the reverse of any idea of isolation.

Clock Punching the Public

(New York Herald)

One of the many costly notions under government operation of the railroads was to allow workers one hour extra pay a week for "punching the clock" when they went on and off the job. Maybe they worked a full week, maybe they worked only half a week, maybe they did not work a single minute in a whole week and so did not get a chance to punch the clock at all, but they got their allowance for punching it just the same.

Right at the very start this clock punching luxury cost the roads a million dollars a month. And of course day labor wages were put on the rating of skilled labor by the government operators and then the wages of all were raised and raised and raised the clock punching scheme became in the aggregate a massive chunk of plunder.

Another remarkable performance in the government operation of the roads was letting the productive piece workers comfortably down to a minimum level fixed for the hourly workers, with a guarantee that henceforth they would get it whether they produced or not, while they could not get any more no matter how much they produced. Thereafter the old piece workers did not produce, their output decreasing all the way from ten to forty per cent.

And let no man in the country surveying these examples of incompetent, reckless and disastrous management of the railroads under government operation, forget that it was the American people back of the railroads who were then and still continue to be the victims of the squander and pillage. It was the public pocket paying the freight which was clock punched in hundreds of ways and to an extent which before the final accounting is held will total billions on billions of dollars.

Keep the Navy A While

(From the National Republican)

If this nation is to be influential in behalf of disarmament, it must have sea power commensurate with its importance of a world power. The toothless dog's arguments against fighting are not impressive. China would never be a factor in world disarmament. When the world's greatest naval power proposes naval disarmament, its leadership will be effective. Whenever Japan, England and the United States agree upon naval disarmament the rest of the world will follow. The ability of the United States to persuade Japan and Great Britain to take such a step, will depend very much upon our progress in the development of sea power. For the first time in world history Great Britain is willing to talk about limitation of armament, because for the first time in history another power is upon England's heels in naval equipment. That is natural enough.

For Uncle Sam to put up his gun while the other powers of the world have their guns out might prove his good intentions, but it would not make him a better insurance risk.

Less than ten years ago Col. Bryan was going about the country arguing against preparedness for war and ridiculing the idea that the United States would ever be called upon to fight again. The sentiment created by such pacifists cost the United States thousands of lives and billions of dollars.

Supreme Council and League

(From the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times)

After pondering Ambassador Harvey's Pilgrims' Society speech, the leisurely British weeklies find themselves unable to reconcile our rejection of the League of Nations the decision of President Harding that America shall be represented on the supreme council. They regard the two as virtually one and the same, which, of course, they are privileged to do. So far as America is concerned they are distinct, as has been made clear in official expressions at Washington. The London Nation alludes to our objection that the league is "an enforcing agency of the victors" and asks: "What else is the supreme council?" The difference will be the more easily distinguishable with the lapse of time and the march of developments. For us it is well defined now.

The league of nations has been made an enforcing agency of the German peace treaty, which America does not approve because it includes provisions utterly at variance with our principles. The supreme council represents the nations which prosecuted the war and won the victory; the principal allied and associated powers who have direct rights and interests in the war settlements without respect to any membership in the league. Members of the supreme council who are members of it may defer to the league, where it seems to them proper to do so, as the highest organized authority in the world, but they cannot without disregard of our dearly won rights make any decision concerning our interests that will be binding on us without our specific consent.

President Harding's purpose in directing Ambassador Harvey to sit with the supreme council is not to take part in European settlements in which we have no concern, but to watch and to safeguard American interests. We have surrendered none of our rights as a principal victor. We will not interfere with others rights but we will protect our own. In the league we should have no such self-protective power as we have in the supreme council.

If this is not clear to our friends across the water it will be demonstrated in good time and we have no doubt that they will acknowledge the truth of the situation as it becomes honorable people to do.

GIVES CLEAN BILL TO LABOR GROUP

Washington, June 6.—The international labor office, operated under the League of Nations Council, is given a clean bill of health in a report of the special commission of the league to investigate charges which have brought the labor body under fire as an alleged disseminator of socialistic doctrines. A summary of the commission's report was made public here last night by the American correspondent of the labor office.

The commission, according to the summary, says there is no evidence of active propaganda being spread by the labor group. It adds that there is no foundation for the accusation that the bureau has "entered into direct relations with trade unions and other workers' organizations."

With respect to the assertion that the labor office had proffered preferential treatment to labor organizations the summary says that "the criticism might equally be made in other quarters that the office has entered into direct relations with the employers and other organizations."

Results achieved by the labor office were commended as remarkable by the commissioners, the summary states, and adds that its members express satisfaction at the potential value of labor statistics gathered by the office.

MAY DROP MANY OFFICERS OF ARMY

Washington, June 6.—Secretary Weeks has issued orders to the heads of all branches of the army, calling for the elimination of officers who do not measure up to military standards of efficiency. Under the instructions given, officers who cannot give satisfaction in one branch of the service will be tried out in some other branch and those who fail to measure up in any of the positions to which they are assigned will become subject to discharge from the army or retirement on small pay under the provisions of a recent law.

In an explanatory statement, the war department said in part:

"The basic principle in making assignments is to have the right officer in the right place. The best interests of the service should always be paramount in deciding this question, and it usually requires a study of the officer's whole record to determine it.

"There is now a law providing for the elimination of inefficient officers, and the blame must rest entirely upon the army if we retain this class of officer on active duty."

The orders issued by Secretary Weeks may bring to a head a situation that has existed ever since the war department began to carry out provisions of a comparatively recent law having for its object the elimination of the officers accused of being unfit. Under the new army law many officers have been placed on the retired list, or dropped from the service. Cases of some of them are pending in the civil courts and others have appealed to the President to examine the evidence upon which they have been eliminated from active service.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Back from Annapolis

Commander Brownell returned today from the Naval Academy, where he has been attending the exercises and graduation of his son, who accompanied his father to the local yard. After a few days he will leave for the Asiatic station, where he has been assigned to one of the ships there.

Ordered to New York

The two lieutenants of the Argentine Navy, who have been attached to the destroyer McKee, for instructions and experience, have been detached and ordered to report to a senior officer of the Argentine service at New York.

Getting Stores Off

The crew of Eagle Boat No. 15 are busy preparing to put the ship out of commission the last of the week.

Will Sail Saturday

Work on the mine sweeper Lark will be completed the last of the week and the ship is expected to sail on Saturday.

Twelve Discharged

Four firemen, one electrician, one chief gunner's mate, one coxswain, one storekeeper, one gunners mate, two seamen from the various ships were discharged from the service on the yard station ship today.

Transferred to Hingham

John Rochowiak, chief water tender who has been on duty at the Army and Navy Home on Daniel street has been transferred to the station ship at Hingham.

Two for Industrial

Lieuts. Brady and McKee of the construction corps, have been ordered to the local yard for duty reporting shortly from the Institute of Technology at Boston.

Assigned to Mare Island

Following the sailing of the U. S. S. Rappahannock for the Pacific coast, the ship will be assigned to the Mare Island yard as home port. She has been at the local yard nearly two years.

Four Qualify

As the result of a recent examination held at the local yard, the following will receive permanent commissions: John L. Cash qualified as lieutenant M. T. Betton as ensign; J. L. Claiborne as ensign; Louis Crom as ensign. Cash and Betton are residents of Portsmouth.

Waiting for a Crew

The collier Abscom is still at the yard being held up for want of a full crew, owing to the strike. The ship is due to sail from Lambert's Point on June with another cargo of coal for the local yard. The ship is one of the Shipping Board fleet.

Walter Damrosch's American program with the London Symphony orchestra, announced to appear at the Congress of the British Music Society in June, will include excerpts from his own incidental numbers for "Iphigenia in Aulis" and "Electra," together with John Alden Carpenter's "In a Perambulator," and two movements from the "Indian Suite" by the late Edward MacDowell.

ASKS FOR $50,000,000 FOR CATTLE MEN

Washington, June 6. — Legislation authorizing Secretary Mellon to make available to the War Finance Corporation $50,000,000, to be loaned cattle raisers, was recommended to Congress by the federal reserve board in a formal statement issued tonight by Governor Harding. The recommendation was made, Governor Harding explained, with the concurrence of the secretary, to meet "the peculiar emergency existing in the livestock industry."

The board's proposal was announced by the Governor before leaving for a two weeks' tour of the cattle-producing sections of the country. He has just completed a similar tour of the agricultural sections of the South and Middle West.

Amendment to the reserve act making one and two-year cattle paper eligible for re-discount. Instead of the existing limit of six months, as a means of providing the longer term credit required by the necessities of the live stock industry is deemed inadvisable by the board, the Governor declared. Such loans, he asserted, could be made through reserve banks as fiscal agents for the War Finance Corporation, rather than as banks of discount. He suggested that the time for making these advances to stock men be limited to three years from the passage of the enabling legislation, "with a view to having the funds thus advanced ultimately returned to the treasury."

WILL ROUND UP JURY FIXERS

Boston, June 6.—District Attorney S. Howard Donnell of Essex county, assisted by state detectives, is investigating the activities of alleged "jury fixers," and yesterday intimated that several arrests may be expected shortly.

"My office," said he, "is working day and night to bring these men to justice, and I will, if necessary, devote the remainder of my term to obtaining convictions against these jury emperers. They will not get away with it."

The investigation was started as a result of the alleged discovery of attempts to influence a jury which was about to hear criminal charges against George F. Cuddy of Lawrence; but Donnell is not confining his investigation to that city. He said that already his men have been in Lynn, Salem, Lawrence and Haverhill, and have obtained considerable evidence.

Donnell and his assistant, Edward F. Flynn, have the help of State Detectives William F. Murray and others, and it is known that the detectives are questioning jurymen who have served on Essex county criminal court juries during the last year. It is understood they have brought to light several instances where jurors were approached by mutual friends, and statements made regarding the person or persons about to be tried.

The investigators are paying particular attention to certain big criminal cases in the county during the past year, in which verdicts of not guilty were returned. Several of these defendants were connected with politics, and Donnell is working on the assumption, so stated, that they were exonerated as a result of certain influences.

UNEMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Washington, June 5.—Unemployment increased approximately one-half of one per cent during May, according to a statement made public today by the Department of Labor, based upon reports from 1428 firms employing 501 or more persons in 65 principal industrial centres of the country. The same firms, the statement said, employed 1,578,538 workers in May against 1,550,719 in April.

The number of employes in tobacco manufacture decreased 5.5 per cent in May, while lumber and its manufacture fell off 2.9 per cent, food and kindred products .7 per cent, metal and metal products .03 per cent, chemicals .1 per cent, and miscellaneous industries grouped together 1.9 per cent.

Increases in the number of employes were shown in railroad repair shops amounting to 8.1 per cent, in leather 4.3 per cent, vehicles for land transportation 3.8 per cent, textiles 2.2 per cent, stone clay and glass 2 per cent, liquors and beverages 1.9 per cent, and paper printing .1 per cent.

Cities reporting employment decreases in May were: Chicago with 2.9 per cent, Boston 3.2 per cent, Portland, Ore., 26.4, New Haven 15.9, Memphis 15.6, San Francisco 11.3, Peoria, Ill., 11.8, Perth Amboy, N. J. 10.9, Louisville 9.5, Paterson, N. J., 8.1, Buffalo, 7.9, Cincinnati 7.2, Birmingham 5.4, New Orleans 5.0 and Richmond, Virginia, 3.9.

Increases in the number employed were shown in New York city, amounting to 3 per cent; Philadelphia 1.5 per cent, Detroit 4.4, New Bedford 8.6, Denver 22.4, St. Paul 12.3, Bayonne, N. J., 12.9, Seattle 9.8, Flint, Mich., 8.3, Chattanooga 7.1, Grand Rapids 7.3, Atlanta 6.1 and Indianapolis 6.1.

SAY PEGGY SOLD GEMS JOYCE BOUGHT FOR HER

Chicago, June 6.—Before Peggy Joyce returned to America last October, she parted with every article of the $500,000 worth of jewelry which her husband, James Stanley Joyce, had bought her in Paris and London, according to answer made yesterday by her attorneys to the charge that she had smuggled her fortune in gems into the United States.

While the attorneys would not commit themselves as to why Peggy Joyce had disposed of the jewels, it was understood that she had sold or pawned most of them to maintain the luxurious standard of living which, she says, was taught her by Joyce. It was also gathered that she parted with some to prevent paying duty on them.

The jewels Joyce bought for her in Paris included a pearl necklace, which cost Mr. Joyce $75,000; a diamond ring for which he paid $61,000; a little larger one, which cost $86,000; a tiara, priced at $65,000; an emerald ring which cost $25,000, and various other items raising the figures to the half-million mark.

SEND PRISONERS FROM DOVER JAIL TO PORTSMOUTH

All Jail Sentences Imposed in Strafford County to Be Served Here.

The Dover jail has been closed at last by the Strafford County commissioners and the prisoners transferred to the Rockingham County jail in this city. The first transfer was made on Saturday when Sheriff Fred Goodwin brought six men to this city to serve sentences imposed by the municipal and superior courts. In the future all jail sentences from Strafford county will be served here. The closing of Dover jail follows an act of the last Legislature and the change had been anticipated for some time previous. The additional prisoners make 16 in all at present under the care of Sheriff Spinney. The jail has room for forty inmates. The Dover jail may be sold.

POLICE COURT

Judge Guptill gave a good part of the morning session today to two drunk cases. The first was that of John Camkandos of Russell street. John said he was not guilty of illegal possession of the corn broth. The police said that John did considerable tacking on Vaughan street with a handbag that looked light one time and heavy the next. Anyhow, John and his grip got pinched and when the contents were unloaded one gallon of speed was discovered. John admitted that he had the receptacle but he did not know what was in it, that he was simply conveying the grip to another man for a friend. For this bit of transferring and his friendly act he was obliged to separate himself from $100 and costs $8.15.

Mary Bellis of Wall street added $100 more, costs $8.15 to the day's receipts. The police searched Mary's domicile and found some cider. Mary put up a stiff denial of any illegal possession and all she had in storage at her home was for her personal consumption. The conditions surrounding Mary's home at the time of the raid convinced the court that something was wrong and she was obliged to refill a fine.

Philip Nawenik was the low man of the day. He slipped $18.15 to the clerk for intoxication.

PUBLIC FUNERAL PLANNED FOR CAPT. SCOTT

Winchester, June 5—A public military funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at St. Mary's church for Capt. Francis Arthur Scott, Supply Company, 207th Infantry, 77th Division, A. E. F., who died Sept. 11 1918, of wounds in France.

The body of Captain Scott who was a native of Portsmouth, N. H., and a former resident of Lynn for about 20 years was brought to the home of his brother from France last week. The flags on the public buildings have been placed at half staff until after the funeral Tuesday.

The military escort will consist of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion and a delegation from Woburn of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Capt. Scott was 37 years old. He removed to Lynn when quite young and graduated from St. Mary's parish school. He enlisted Feb. 4, 1910 at Boston in the regular army, was stationed with the 21st Regulars at Yuma, Ari., for two years and later went to Vancouver Barracks. On Aug. 15, 1897 he was commissioned a first lieutenant of infantry after attending a bakers training school at Presidio, Calif. He was instructor at Plattsburg and was sent to Camp Upton to the 307th Infantry, Supply Company, Liberty Division. He went overseas in 1918 and was commissioned captain in three months.

He is survived by four brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Joseph A. Scott of Winchester, William T. Scott of Roxbury, Mark A. Scott of Portland, Me., and George P. Scott, believed to be in the U. S. army. The sisters are Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Berkley, Va., and Mrs. Anastasia Jordan of Lynn.

SAILORS DEFEAT THE VETERANS

The baseball team from the U. S. S. San Francisco defeated the team of the Daniels Hovey Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the playgrounds on Saturday afternoon, the final score being 5-to 1. Ensign Alexander, a former Naval Academy star twirler was in the box for the sailors and the Veterans were unable to bunch hits off his delivery.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Frisco	1	0	2	0	2	0	0	0	0	5	7	2

OSGOOD LODGE TO ENTERTAIN OFFICIAL GOAT

The Sovereign Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F. meets this year at Toronto, Canada in September. In order to keep this event before the members it has been the custom of the Sovereign Grand Lodge to send out an official goat (a real live one). This goat was in Boston last year and is sent out from Mechanicsville, N. Y., in the early Spring to some popular lodge which keeps and entertains him for two weeks. Then he is advanced to some other lodge for the same period. All the time he is advancing towards his goal, at Toronto, scheduled to arrive at the opening of the Sovereign Grand Lodge session where he is received with great honors. This animal is now visiting New England cities.

At the last meeting of Osgood Lodge No. 18, I. O. O. F., a delegation was present from Quascacunquen Lodge No. 39 of Newburyport, who notified them that Osgood Lodge was scheduled to receive this official goat for a visit of two weeks. This is an unusual honor and is much appreciated by the members of Osgood Lodge.

This goat, with a traveling record of over 15,000 miles, will be received by Osgood Lodge next Thursday evening. He will be accompanied from Newburyport by about one hundred members of the order. They will meet at I. O. O. F. hall and will have a short parade. The Morley Penn Corps will furnish music for marching and give a short concert in front of the hall.

The members of the order will all meet in the lodge room after the parade where the presentation will be made by the Newburyport Odd Fellows and Osgood Lodge will assume the responsibility for the goat for a period of two weeks. There is quite a ceremony attached to the presentation and should be witnessed by all members of the I. O. O. F. The visitors will be entertained and a lunch served at the close of the meeting.

Osgood Lodge appreciates this honor and his goatship will be kept busy for his period of visitation. Thursday evening will be a big event for Osgood Lodge and the I. O. O. F. in general.

LITTLE FOLKS HAVE CIRCUS

The juvenile circus given at the Lafayette School grounds on Saturday afternoon by the Junior Friendship Club of the North Church, proved a success, and $50 was netted from the same. The circus was held to raise money for relief work abroad, and half will be donated to the European Children's Fund and half to the Near East Relief.

The special features included clowns, Charlie Chaplin, a funny policeman, two "cops" who kept the audience in a merry mood by their antics. A fortune teller cleverly revealed the future. There was a trick dog and also a pony, on which little folks were given rides. Side shows also were included in the circus until. Peanuts, pop corn, candy, cookies and ice cream were on sale, and the contents of a grab-bag. Most everything was donated, and the parents and friends of the children patronized the circus stands liberally.

Those taking part in the circus were: Dorothy Walton, Mary Jean Duncan, Marion Gardner, Rosetta Clough, Doris Tilton, Helen Carkin, Teresa Woodward, Harriet Caswell, Keith Bickford, Harriet Duncan and Rachel Slayton.

The general arrangements of the affair were in charge of Misses Gwendolyn Glendenning and Marguerite Embrey.

DARTMOUTH HAS ITS ANNUAL SING OUT WITH USUAL EXERCISES

Hanover, June 5—Dartmouth's annual sing out exercises were held here this afternoon, commencing with the march of the members of the senior class in cap and gown from the senior fence to Rollins chapel, where the exercises were held.

The program for the afternoon included Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests" for the processional, responsive reading of Psalm 119, prayer and Lord's prayer, benediction and the recessional.

The college choir, assisted by the college orchestra, rendered Arnold Ameshury's "Come Let Us Anew Our Journey Pursue" with an incidental solo by Robert Weisasser, '22, of New York city, leader of the college ice club.

An anniversary ode with music by Prof. Leonard B. McWhood, A. M., head of the college department of music and words by Francis Lane Childs, Ph. D. of the English department, was rendered by the choir and the orchestra with incidental solos by Gordon D. Beattie, '21, of Oldtown, Maine, and Mr. Elsasser.

The choir and the congregation, assisted by the orchestra, sang "Men of Dartmouth," written by Richard Hovey, '85, with music by Harry R. Wellman, '07, of the Tuck business school faculty.

Upon the entrance of President Ernest Martin Hopkins into the chapel, the entire congregation stood up. Practically the entire student body took part in the exercises, Rollins chapel being filled to its capacity.

"Sing out" is the last official college event before commencement, the final examinations starting tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, most of them being held on the large alumni gymnasium floor.

METHODIST CHURCH

Children's Day will be observed next Sunday at the Methodist Church, with special exercises.

At the Methodist Church on Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. E. S. Tasker, spoke on "The Three Classes at the Cross." The sacrament of the Lord's Supper followed. In the evening the pastor spoke on "Disarmament," a "Peace Sunday" service being held.

The Ladies' Aid Society will have a musical and drama at the vestry on Tuesday evening.

The united missionary societies of the church will hold their monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Sanborn on Wibird street.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday evening.

BOSTON WOMAN'S DRIVER KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Peterboro, June 5—John Carpenter, 35, a chauffeur employed by Mrs. Karl Kauffman of Boston, was almost instantly killed in an automobile accident here this morning. He had left the country estate of Mrs. Kauffman about 5 o'clock this morning bound for Boston, and at about 6.30, while on the Peterboro road at Temple Mountain, the car overturned, pinning him beneath it. There is a turn in the road at this point and he is supposed to have been traveling rapidly and to have been unable to make the short turn.

The body was found by John Wheeler, a selectman of Temple. Dr. Walker of Peterboro and the medical referee were called. Carpenter was married.

ABBOT BACCALAUREATE BY REV. M. H. LICHLITER

Andover, June 6—The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Abbot Academy was preached yesterday morning at the South Congregational Church by Rev. M. H. Lichliter of the Central Congregational Church of Newton. He said:

"Today there is too much of the spirit of 'I want to be shown.' Before there is any action. Only by living the everyday life as Christ would have us, taking him at his word instead of listening to creeds and dogmas, can there be any spiritual healing."

HOSPITAL TAG DAY NETS AMOUNT DESIRED

Exeter, June 6—Saturday was Tag Day for the Exeter Cottage Hospital, when about everybody in town was tagged, and a large sum netted. It was the intention of obtaining $2,000, and this amount was probably realized, although the exact figures are not yet returned. The amount raised this way last year was $1,926.81.

Since five young woman teachers in one school in Winnetka, Ill., have announced intentions to wed, the superintendent contemplates advertising for "love-proof" teachers.

SUNSET LEAGUE OPENING GAME THIS EVENING

The opening game of the Sunset League for the season of 1921 will be held this evening at the playgrounds. The game will be started promptly at 6.15 and will be officially opened by Mayor Hartford who will throw out the first ball.

The opening game will be between the Navy Yard civilian team and the team from Fort Constitution. Both teams are anxious to get first blood. The games will be for the usual five innings and the Sunset League rules of former years will govern.

SMART WINS HIS EVENT IN DUAL MEET

Roland Smart of this city, a student at Exeter Academy, won the hammer throw at the dual meet with Andover in Saturday which Exeter won. His throw was 165 feet 1 inch, or over twenty feet farther than the next man. R. G. Allen, the captain of the Andover team, who created a new record in the half mile run is a son of Arthur H. Allen, formerly of this city, and was born here. He is a nephew of Charles W. Gray.

Hon. and Mrs. W. E. Hite and family of Huntington, West Va., arrived on Saturday at their summer home at New Castle for the summer.

WAR GAS THE MOST DEADLY YET KNOWN

Chester, Pa., June 5—A new warfare gas, three drops of which will kill within thirty seconds the skin it touches, was described here today by Captain L. D. Hutson, U. S. A., speaking before students of the Pennsylvania Military college.

Captain Hutson came here to perfect plans for a night gas attack, to be staged in connection with the college's centennial commencement exercises on June 13.

Gen. Pershing, George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to President Harding; Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, Gov. Denny of Delaware, Brig. Gen. William G. Price and the entire cadet corps will witness the attack, which Captain Hutson declared would be much more modern than anything tried during the world war.

Honorary degrees will be given Gen. Pershing and Mr. Christian by the college.

Describing the gas as the latest discovery of the expert chemists engaged in the research laboratories of the First Gas Regiment, Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood, Captain Hutson said the United States had made tremendous progress in warfare gases since the close of the world war, and now undoubtedly leads the world.

"Imagine what will happen to a fly," he said, "when air squadrons begin spraying with that terrible substance. In the next war machine guns and artillery will be out of date—the weapons will be gas and chemicals, and the humblest non-combatant will be exposed to attack. Entire populations will take the chance of never awakening when they go to bed at night. It will truly be a war of extermination.

"Another new invention is the toxic smoke candle, which when burned sets loose clouds of dust particles temporarily incapacitating those that breathe the dust. The infantry will be equipped with these candles and they will be used in the advance to smother the personnel of machine gun nests and the enemy huddled in trenches and dugouts."

The centennial commencement exercises opened at the college yesterday. Among those upon whom degrees will be bestowed will be Sylvanus G. Mosley, archaeologist and associate at Carnegie Institute at Washington, D. C., who will receive the degree of doctor of philosophy; Walter E. Hibbard, research chemist, Bridgeport, degree of master of science and the Rev. William Burke, pastor of the Washington Memorial Chapter, Valley Forge, degree of the doctor of divinity.

BANKERS OF COUNTRY TO HOLD CONVENTION

Minneapolis, Minn., June 3.—The American Institute of Banking, educational section of the American Bankers' Association, holds its 19th annual convention here July 19 to 22. Approximately 1,500 delegates from almost every state in the union are expected to be present.

Because of recent financial readjustments, the meetings promise to be the most important held by banking heads this year. Five industry talks by men actively identified with each individual subject will be a feature of the convention. Men nationally known are to be selected to talk on milling, livestock and packing, automobiles, merchandise jobbing and transportation.

Another feature will be a symposium on foreign trade, in which a number of prominent Institute men will participate. Questions of world-wide trade, and any relating subject which affects American bankers will be discussed.

It is planned to have among the speakers a prominent banker, a man high in the administration in Washington, and an eastern educator, according to members of the program committee.

Formed a number of years ago at Richmond, Virginia, through the consolidation of a number of local associations, the organization now has an active membership of 44,000 throughout the country. Originally, it was known as the American Institute of Bank Clerks, but later, when it became a part of the American Bankers' Association, its name was changed and both officers and clerks of banks were admitted to active membership. Many bank directors recently have become affiliated with the Institute as associate members.

Local chapters of the Institute have been established in 84 of the country's principal cities, and six state chapters have been organized for the purpose of extending the educational advantages of the organization to country bankers.

Educational classes for the most part are conducted under agreements with well known Universities, but where this system cannot be effected, the work is under the direct supervision of George E. Allen, educational director of the Institute.

Many women will be found among the membership of the Institute and the active participation of women in the banking business is seen by their recent election to some of the larger organizations of the American Bankers' Association.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Chicago is to have a woman assistant district attorney.

Mrs. Kate Wilder is police commissioner of Fargo, North Dakota.

In Finland a woman considers a kiss on the lips as the greatest insult even from her own husband.

The ruff is said to have been first invented by a Spanish noblewoman to hide a wen which grew upon her neck.

In the middle of the eighteenth century the women of Vienna were prohibited by law from painting their faces.

Mary Queen of Scots had a most complete collection of wigs, and it is said that she wore one at her execution.

French ladies of quality at one time were fond of carrying the dogs in their muffs, and these muffs were called "dog-muffs."

During the reign of James II the ladies wore such high head-dress that when riding in a coach they were obliged to sit on the floor.

The Canton-Samshui railroad in China employs a considerable number of native women in clerical positions and as ticket-sellers and inspectors.

California's new law prohibiting capital punishment for minors under eighteen, was framed by a woman member of the general assembly, Mrs. Anna Saylor.

When a princess of the British royal family stands as godmother to a child it is etiquette that she should make a present to the nurse usually a five-pound note.

Miss Estelle Downing, an instructor in the State Normal School at Ypsilanti, has the distinction of being the first woman to be elected to a city council in the state of Michigan.

Papers of incorporation have been issued to the Independent Order of Widows, Widowers, Maids and Bachelors, which has been organized at Logansport, Ind., for the purpose of promoting acquaintance among those eligible to matrimony.

Mrs. Ora H. Snyder, who started in business in a very small way in Chicago less than a dozen years ago, now owns and manages a chain of stores representing one of the largest retail candy organizations in America, selling only home made candles.

Lady Bancroft, whose death is reported in England, was not only a capable actress, but also an excellent business woman and was generally credited with having made the fortune of her husband, Sir Squire Bancroft, who retired from the stage with a fortune of three-quarters of a million dollars.

BIDDEFORD MINISTER GOING TO DOVER

Biddeford, Me., June 6.—Rev. James A. Nichols, for two years pastor of the Christian Advent church in this city, has accepted a call from the Advent Church in Dover, N. H. He will preach his last sermon as pastor of the local church next Sunday. Rev. Mr Nichols, who came here from Waterboro, is 46 years old. He is a graduate of the North Hampton Literary Institute.

According to Mlle. Marguerite Clement, formerly of the faculty of the University of Paris, gasoline in France is so scarce and expensive that cognac is being poured into the tanks of automobiles to supply the motive power. The French brandy is so strong and contains such a large quantity of alcohol that it makes an excellent substitute for gas.

Venice, Cal., the city with the first aerial policeman in the world, is about to prescribe a code of air traffic laws that will prevent the planes from being nuisances. The most recent complaint against them is that when flying low over the beach the wind from the propeller stirs up the sand so as to throw it in bathers' eyes.

HOUSE AGREES ON DISARMAMENT AMENDMENT

Washington, June 5—A new disarmament amendment to the naval appropriation bill, which they will insist be adopted instead of the proposal of Senator Borah inserted by the senate, was drawn up and approved by republican leaders of the house today.

The house plan, said to accord more nearly with views and wishes of President Harding, is much wider in scope than the Borah amendment which authorizes only the calling of a conference of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

The President is known to feel that no specific limitations should be placed on his endeavors to accomplish reduction of armament and the house proposal, leaders said, was drawn with that end in view.

Unlike many disarmament resolutions introduced in congress during the last two months, which "authorize, empower and direct" the President to call a disarmament conference, the house amendment concurs in the views on disarmament publicly expressed by Mr. Harding and appropriates $100,000 toward the preliminary expense of any disarmament conference he may call.

Although house leaders have been insisting that the Borah amendment must be broadened to include disarmament only, the general term "armament" is used in the amendment, it being explained that the opinion was that the President should be left free to seek a reduction of armies if he so desired.

In drafting the house amendment to a concurrence in the President's views, Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee explained that the other resolutions which "authorize" or "direct the President to take disarmament steps carry the implication that Mr. Harding does not wish on his own initiative to attempt a reduction of armament. Mr. Porter conferred with the President last night.

POLICE NEWS

Two arrests were made on Saturday for illegal possession of liquor, one a Polish woman at the North End who was charged with selling cider and the other a Russian who was found with hooch. There was also one drunk arrested.

BAY STATE MOTORCYCLISTS GOING TO MAINE JUNE 17

Old Orchard Beach, June 6.—The Massachusetts Motorcycle Association will hold its annual field day at this resort June 17, 18 and 19, when from 1500 to 2000 cyclists from the Bay State will come here. The motorists will leave Boston at 8 a. m. Friday, June 17, and will pick up members in the different cities they pass through. Nearly all of the members will come on their motorcycles.

Lieut. J. E. Lineberry, U. S. N., is on a ten days' leave from the Industrial Department at the yard. He will pass the time with his family at Newport, R. I.

Something must be done to correct the nuisance that exists about the base ball grounds. Residents residing in that section have much to contend with. Disgraceful scenes are enacted there in the evening.

Everything is moving along smoothly at the drive for more water.

The need of a more up-to-date fire truck was demonstrated at the Whidden street fire.

WONDERING WHAT THEY WILL GET

Manchester and Concord patrons of the B. & M. who put in what time they can spare at York Beach are up in the air on the matter of transfer over the Portsmouth branch on Saturdays and Sundays. They are worried more or less about the so-called "husbands" train. The railroad officials seemed inclined not to make known any of the proposed changes previous to the date of the summer schedule.

RUBBISH TAKES FIRE

The firemen and the combination engine were called by a still alarm on Saturday afternoon to the corner of Islington and Pearl streets, where a blaze had started among some rubbish in a shed. No damage.

THE NEW DANCE TEAM

The new dance team will make their initial showing tonight at the Scenic, and as usual, a large attendance will no doubt be on hand to "look them over." This team was only one of the 20 odd teams that applied for the summer engagement at this hall, and the management feels very sure that the selection will prove a very satisfactory one. Join the crowd tonight or Tuesday.

SOME MIXUP IN THE TRAIN SERVICE

Navy Yard Posts Notice of One Train and B. & M. Runs Two.

On Friday, notices were posted in the Navy Yard to the effect that the two trains running between this city and the Yard for the accommodation of the employes would be combined, and that one train would transfer the passengers. This morning the government workmen were surprised to find two trains running as usual. Local railroad officials say they have received no orders to combine the trains, and will carry out the present schedule until they are instructed otherwise.

The Navy Yard officials posted the notices following the receipt of a communication from the passenger department directing the arrangement of one train instead of two.

HIS ABSENCE CAUSED SOME EXCITEMENT

Rumors at Kittery About Missing Man Had No Foundation.

The residents of Kittery had quite a bit of excitement this morning after a story was circulated about a clerk in one of the lunch rooms being among the missing. The gossip had him in the river and other places, and the police and sheriff were notified of his sudden disappearance and other matters thought to exist in connection with the case.

He was simply on a week-end vacation, and was much surprised when he showed up for duty, and found that his absence had caused such merriment and excitement in the town.

TO RUN HALF HOUR TRIPS

Beginning June 6 the river passenger boats of James Boardman will run half hour trips each way between Portsmouth and Kittery starting at 6.20 a. m. and continuing until 6 p.m. Boats for Kittery leave foot of State St. Night trips to be decided on later. hc 1w j6

Lovely Tints and Decorations.

Colors as delicate as dawn and decorations that sing of Spring mornings and June gardens enrich the new cretonnes carried by Margeson Brothers. With true artistry, the vivid stripes or motifs against backgrounds of blended tints as soft as mountain mists, appeal and speak to us as though by spoken words.

The variety is ample indeed. The stripes are prominent and the floral, springtime and woodland effects are charming. Practically any color scheme may be easily matched in the assortment.

Dainty ruffled curtains enhance the beauty of Milady's bed chamber, and together with our usual curtains of quality, make a collection of which any store may justly be proud. We want you to see them!

FULL MILITARY HONORS FOR LIEUT. SCHMIDT

Many at Church of Immaculate Conception to Pay Last Tribute to Dead Hero.

First Lieut. Theo. Schmidt, U. S. A., who was killed in action in France, was buried on Sunday afternoon with military honors. The body which on its arrival from France, was taken to the state armory, was placed on a gun caisson, drawn by four horses driven by soldiers. It was preceded by a military escort consisting of the Naval Band, platoon of soldiers from Fort Constitution in command of Lieut. Jolles, U. S. A., the Frank Booma Post, American Legion, E. A. Weeks, Jr., commander, and delegations from Camp Schley, Spanish War Veterans, and Emerson Hovey Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The procession moved through Richards avenue, Austin to Summer street to the Church of the Immaculate Conception where the body was borne into the church by six sergeants from the fort. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the service and Mayor F. W. Hartford represented the city.

Rev. P. J. Hackett, assistant pastor of the church, and an overseas chaplain with the 303th infantry read the funeral service. The senior choir rendered the selections: "De Profundis," "Communio," "Tri Jesu" and "Libera." As the remains were taken from the church the Naval Band rendered "Nearer My God to Thee."

The military escort then reformed and moved through Middle street to Middle road to St. Mary's cemetery where Rev. Fr. Hackett held the committal services at the grave. The firing squad from Fort Constitution fired the usual volley and taps were sounded.

The ushers at the church were Messrs. Hussey, Driscoll and Donahue.

Sergeants Oliver, Cochran, Williams Gentz, Pennington and Britt from Fort Constitution, acted as pall bearers.

Undertaker W. P. Miskell was the funeral director.

Lieut. Schmidt died in France in the World War on Sept. 18, 1919, having received wounds in action. He was a well known and popular local young man, who had attained success by persistent efforts and his death was heard with much regret by all who knew him.

Ambitious from a young boy, Lieut. Schmidt studied diligently to successfully finish his course at St. Anselm's College, Manchester, and at West Point Military Academy. After receiving his commission he was sent to Camp Greene, Charlotte, North Carolina and went overseas with the 30th infantry, serving with Co. M.

Letters from the young man were received by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Morrissey of Sheafe street later, telling of his regiment having taken its place in the line and of its success in action and of being cited in the orders of a French division. Later he wrote vivid descriptions of his experiences and in one letter he said, 'Mother dear, if I am called upon to make the great sacrifice, remember God so willed it.' Soon no letters came and nothing was heard from him until the telegram brought to his relatives the sad news of his death.

The handsome marble baptismal font in the Church of the Immaculate Conception in memory of Lieut. Schmidt was dedicated on April 28 and was the gift of the mother and aunt of the dead hero. The font is of Gothic design and characterized by exquisite refinement and simplicity. The design, the modeling and the sculpture, by Angelo Lualdi of Cambridge, Mass., and is a fitting tribute to the brave young officer who gave his life in the cause of righteousness.

At the dedicatory services the pastor of the church, Rev. D. Alex Sullivan, paid a touching tribute to the life of the young officer. He recalled the thought of Lincoln on the fight of Gettysburg and he reminded all present that they should dedicate themselves to the fine spirit and virtue so fruitful in service and sacrifice in the life and death of the dead hero.

SOME BOY WITH THE PUNCHING BAG

One of the employees of the Armstrong Cafe at the local depot was among the many people who visited Salisbury Beach on Sunday, and while taking in the various places of amusement, he went up against the punching bag for exercise. It is evident that the bag never got such a walloping before. His quick work tore the bag away from its fastening, and boxers and other athletes who watched him work, say they learned something new in the swifies, punches and ducking of a former South Berwick boy, who may yet be heard from in the prize ring.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT RYE CHURCH

The annual memorial services at the Christian Church in Rye on Sunday morning were attended by a delegation from the Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., and its Auxiliary, Storer Relief Corps, and Thomas Aston Hardy Camp Sons of Veterans. The Junior O. U. A. M. of Rye was present at the exercises and acted as escort to the visiting delegations. The pastor, Rev. John D. Everingham, delivered an able sermon along patriotic lines and the service was largely attended.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN W. MATES

Passed Away June 6, 1919.

MARGARET E. MATES AND FAMILY.

MANY SORROWING FRIENDS ATTEND

Last Sad Rites in Memory of W. H. L. Brackett.

The last sad rites over the remains of William H. L. Brackett were held on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Methodist Church in Greenland, and it was one of the largest attended funerals held in that town for years. The townspeople felt the death of the fine young man as a personal loss, and gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one who was so worthy of their friendship, and will be so sadly missed. Many from this city and other places, school mates and friends of the young man were in attendance. Every seat in the edifice was taken, and many people were standing.

The services were conducted by Rev. S. B. Eamian, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Joseph Haskell. The latter clergyman gave the eulogy, and began by saying it was hard for all to part with a friend, but while the journey on which he had gone was not like that to France, where the return home was awaited, this parting was different. Yet the relatives and friends should not grieve, as the young man, whose life had been so well lived, who volunteered for his country's cause, had only passed on to the joys of the hereafter, where there is no pain or sorrow.

The Late W. H. L. Brackett

Mrs. Mary Shaw Raynes sang two appropriate vocal solos, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." There was a large delegation of St. Andrew's Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of this city present, and it held its service at the church and the grave.

The Breakfast Hill Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. was present in a body, and four of its members, Arthur Babkirk, Herbert Babkirk, Clarence Tanner and Lloyd Harvey, acted as ushers.

Prof. Richard Whorisky, with a delegation of students from New Hampshire College, was present; Principal Lee T. Gray and a delegation from the senior class of the Portsmouth High School, president, John S. Parker, and a delegation from the Portsmouth Athletic Club. A delegation from the Frank Booma Post, American Legion, under the command of Vice-Commander Omer Comeau, furnished the military escort, and fired a volley at the grave, and sounded taps.

The floral pieces were in profusion, and were very beautiful. They came from all sections, and from many of the different societies, completely covering the grave in Greenland Cemetery.

The bearers were Edwin L. Brackett, Charles H. Brackett and Ralph D. Brackett, brothers, and Harold A. Sypher, brother-in-law of the deceased. J. Verne Wood had charge of the funeral arrangement.

A letter was received this morning from the army officer who mobilized the Homeopathic Hospital Unit which went from Boston to France, and in which Mr. Brackett served as sergeant. In this letter the writer said that no man in the whole unit would be more missed by that organization, as his fine qualities and spirit of sacrifice made him have the high regard and friendship of every man in the unit.

ALLEN-CONRADE

The marriage of Lenca H. Conrade of Boston, and Charles H. Allen, also of that city, a former resident of Portsmouth, took place here Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Isaac Higginbotham, pastor of the Middle Street Baptist Church.

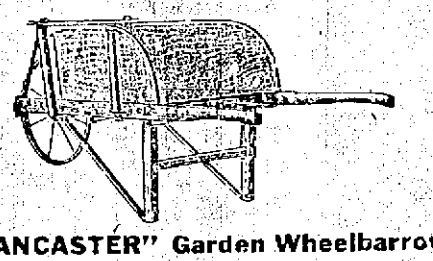

We've an unusually good showing of young men's suits this season. Suits for business wear, for leisure hours and for sports. For business wear here are neat mixtures; herring-bone weaves in grey and brown colorings, and the smart pencil stripes in black and white. The coats of any of these suits or of a blue serge suit worn with white flannel trousers make an ideal lounging suit. "Stein-Bloch" golf suits with extra regular trousers are ideal sport suits.
